3. In Organization page there is "Teams" tab, click on that Tab

4. Click on the New Team Button To create a new team

Seamless communication with teams

Teams are a great way for groups of people to communicate and work on code together. Take a look at why they're great.

Flexible repository access

You can add repositories to your teams with more flexible levels of access (Admin, Write, Read).

Request to join teams

Members can quickly request to join any team. An owner or team maintainer can approve the request.

Team mentions

Use team @mentions (ex. `@github/design` for the entire team) in any comment, issue, or pull request.
